

Concordia University Visiting Lecturers Committee
Concordia University Philosophy Department and McGill University Philosophy Department present

STEVEN STICH

“Second Thoughts on Simulation”

Steven Stich is author of From Folk Psychology to Cognitive Science (MIT 1983)
and The Fragmentation of Reason (MIT 1990)

2:30 p.m. Friday, February 11th

H 520

1455 de Maisonneuve Blvd., West

Reception to follow.

Admission Free

PHILOSOPHY WEEK EVENTS FEBRUARY 7-11, 1994

Monday, February 7th

Panel: “Looking at Vision” with E. Thompson.

Time: 7 p.m.

Place: Lonergan University College
7302 Sherbrooke St. W.

Wednesday, February 9th

Talk: “Two Semantic Values for the Price of One”
by Paul Pietroski (McGill, Philosophy)

Time: 7 p.m.

Place: Lonergan University College
7302 Sherbrooke St. W.

Thursday, February 10th

Panel: “Electronic Superhighway: Freeway or Toll Road?” hosted by V. Zeman.

Time: 4-6 p.m.

Place: Loyola Senate Chamber
7141 Sherbrooke St. W.

Reception at Lonergan University College 6-8 p.m.

Friday, February 11th

Talk: “Second Thoughts on Simulation” by Steven Stich (Rutgers)

Time: 2:30-4:30 p.m.

Place: Hall Building H 520

Reception for Stich: Graduate Student Association
5-6 p.m.

Concordia
UNIVERSITY